WHERE WE ARE · THE COURSE

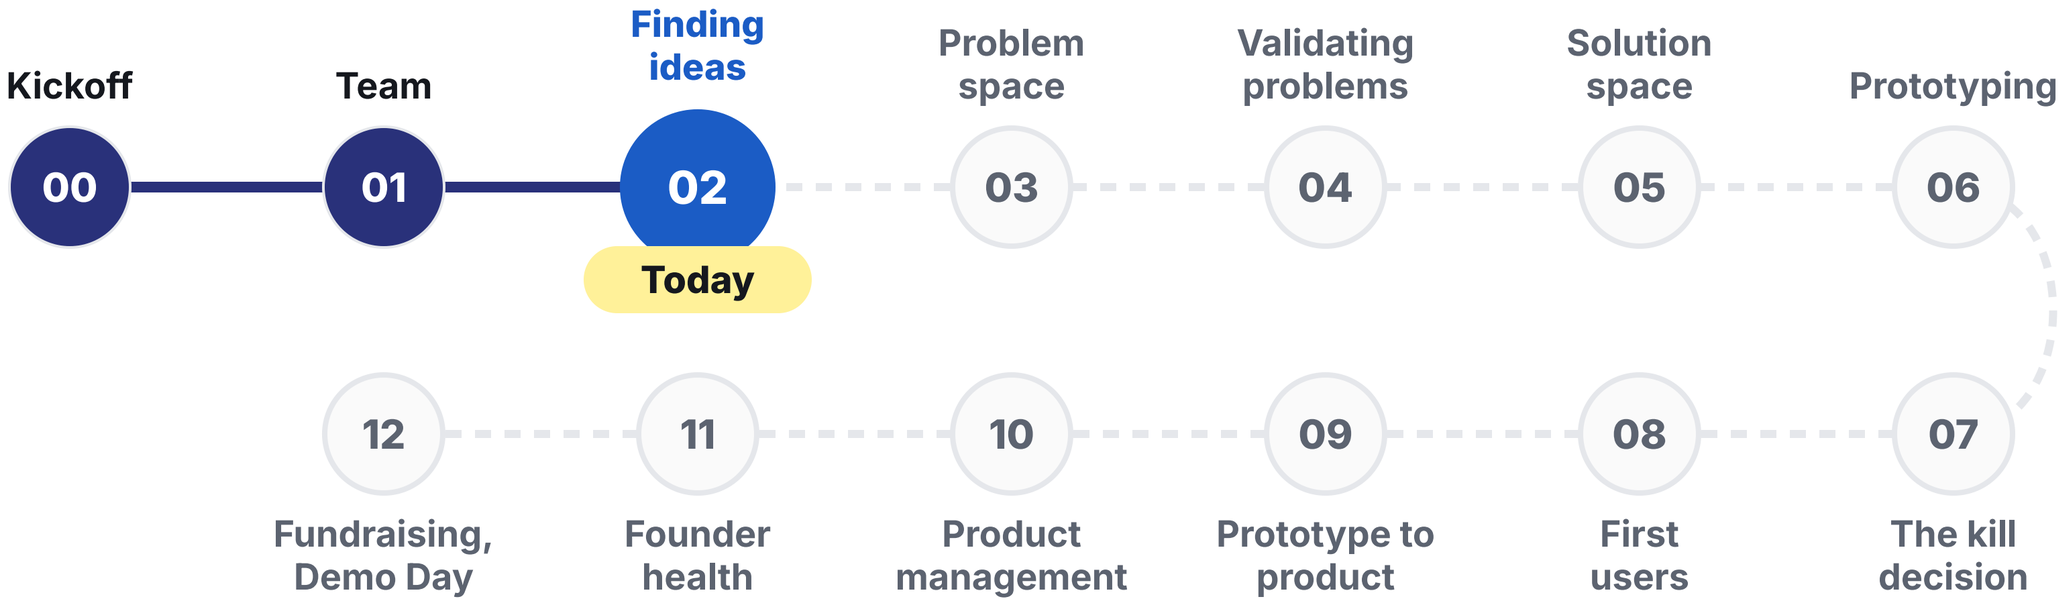

From your team to one idea

Thirteen sessions from first idea to first revenue. What teams have by now:

A team with its agreement
Team (M01)

Talks in a shared problem space
Team (M01)

Problem hypotheses, first quotes
Kickoff (M00)

PIVOT OR PERSEVERE

Under your line? That is a decision, not a failure

Before you have a solution, a pivot goes back to the problem space

Both are progress. The only miss: no line, so no decision

ACCOUNTABILITY

Report what you did, not what you planned

User interactions?

What did you learn?

New revenue?

Why did they pay?

Shipped?

Why does it matter?

Where do good ideas come from?

Where do startup ideas come from?

How do you see problems before others?

How do you write one down?

> The way to get startup ideas is not to try to think of startup ideas. It's to look for problems, preferably problems you have yourself.

WHERE IDEAS COME FROM

Problems show up early in four places

Your own itch
What annoys you every week?

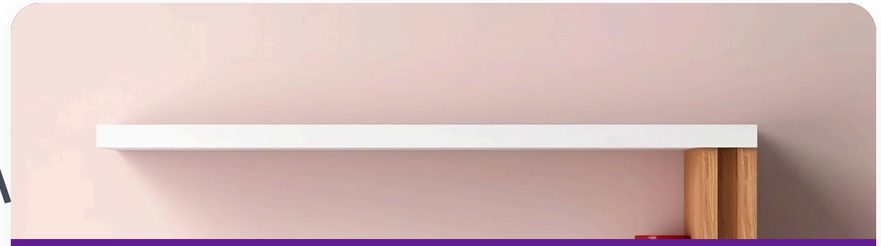

What you know
Your field, your tech, your jobs

[who] struggles with [what]
a problem someone has, not a product

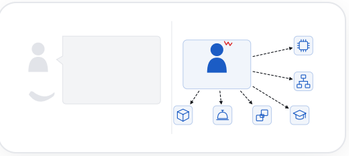

A shift in your field
What just became possible?

Something missing
What do you wish existed?

THE STRONGEST DOOR

Start from what your team knows best

Years in an industry about double your odds of a top startup in it

ASK FOR EVERY PLACE YOU WORKED, INTERNSHIPS TOO

What did you learn there that others don't know?

What seemed broken? What was clumsy?

INPUT 2 OF 4 · SORT IT · THE ANSWERS

Sort it: think big, test small

How do you get big ideas?

Alone first, eight in eight minutes, under constraints you pick, aiming for S, the moonshots

How do you cut without thinking small?

On what people told you. Your scores pick your next test, never the size of the idea

What may you score?

Only what you heard: desirable, viable, feasible, each heard or assumed

Pick it: a problem you want to have

Pick the problem your team is built for, say why in one to three sentences, and defend it.

Which problem is yours?

Which problem is worth picking?

What makes it yours?

How do you say and test it?

The very best startup ideas tend to have three things in common: they're something the founders themselves want, that they themselves can build, and that few others realize are worth doing.

Paul Graham, How to Get Startup Ideas, 2012

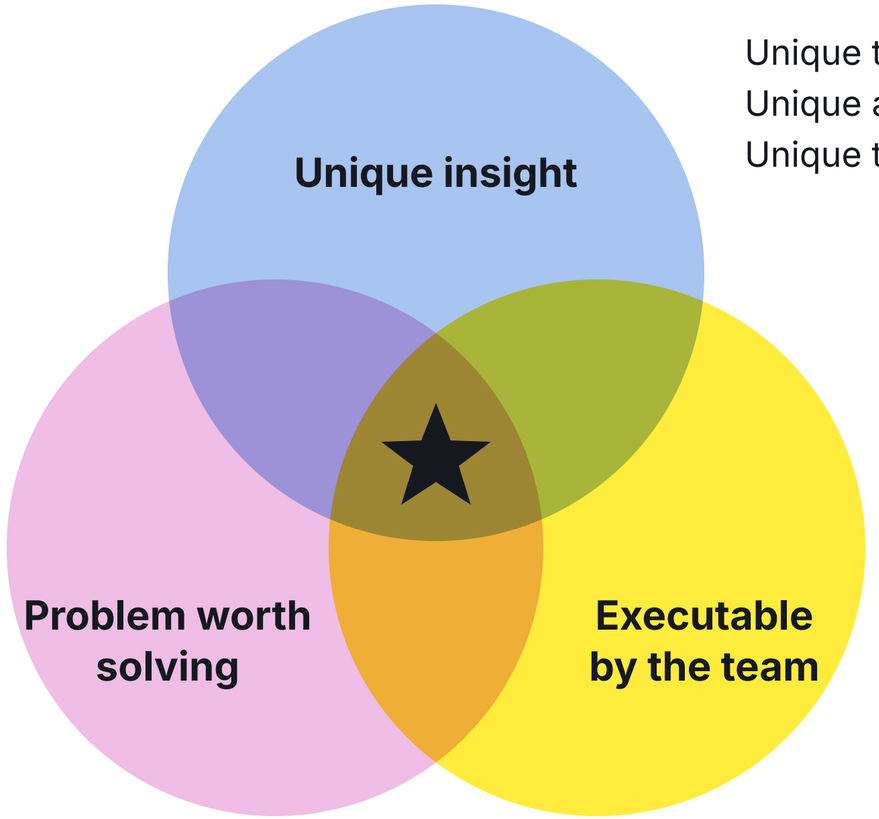

All began this way

- Microsoft
- Apple
- yahoo!
- Google

CORNERSTONE · SELECTING A PROBLEM

Pick the problem where all three overlap

Unique tech
Unique access to customers
Unique take that others don’t have

You are passionate about it
Your audience is passionate about it
You can make a good living from it

You can scale the product
You can scale the backend
You can scale the sales

UNIQUE INSIGHT

Your insight is what others find weird

Why do other people think you're weird?

What is something unique you do or know?

- Apprenticeship or school
- Personal conviction
- CV or personal history
- Technical knowledge

PROBLEM WORTH SOLVING

Worth years of your life, and their money

Problem worth solving

What is worth solving for you?

Is the problem big enough so you can serve many people?

Does it improve the lives of people around you?

Do you desire a world with this problem solved?

Is someone willing to pay for it?

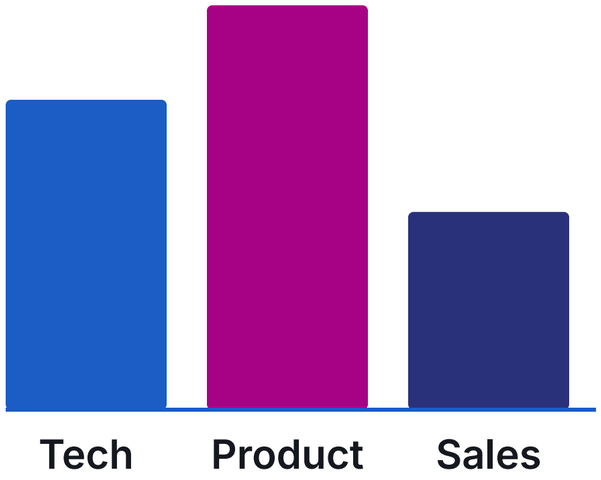

EXECUTABLE BY THE TEAM

Your team must build it and sell it

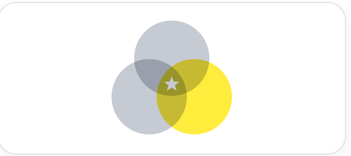

Why are you uniquely suited for this challenge?

Passion | Determination | Skills | Experience

RESEARCH Gompers, Gornall, Kaplan & Strebulaev (2020). Journal of Financial Economics, 135(1). Ranking from Techstars (2024), Inside a Techstars accelerator.

YOUR EARLY-STAGE PITCH

Say it in one to three sentences

1 INSIGHT
What do you know that others don't,

2 PROBLEM
why does it matter,

3 TEAM
why can your team do it?

This is your early-stage pitch!

Have it available in 1-3 sentences for the next months.

AI CRITICS

AI agrees with you. Make it attack

Each attack is a question for a real person. Critics never count as evidence

ILLUSTRATIVE Chat prototyped for this deck. Assistants tend to agree with their user: Sharma et al. (2023).

HOW-TO · AI CRITICS

One prompt, three critics

Your chat assistant

Business Idea: {Insert business idea}

You will generate increasingly concise summaries of the business idea above.

Repeat the following 3 steps 3 times.

Step 1: From the perspective of a potential customer, feedback the idea in terms of desirability. What problem does it solve? How are you solving the problem currently? When would you like to use it? What is missing from the idea? What is unnecessary? How much are you willing to pay for it? How does it compare to other ways of solving your problem? Think step by step and explain your reasoning.

Improve the idea according to your feedback.

Reply... →

1. Customer: desirability
2. Experienced founder: business value
3. Venture capitalist: growth

Paste it into the chat assistant you use. Then ask real people.

INPUT 3 OF 4 · PICK IT · THE ANSWERS

Pick it: where all three overlap

Which problem is worth picking?

Where unique insight, a problem worth solving and an executable team overlap

What makes it yours?

An insight others find weird, and a team that can build it and sell it

How do you say and test it?

In one to three sentences, attacked by AI critics, then by real people

Test it: the Mom Test quickstart

INPUT 4 OF 4 · TEST IT · THREE QUESTIONS

How do you hear the truth?

What do you ask about?

Which questions work?

What do you do with the answers?

THE MOM TEST

Talk about their life, not your idea

YOUR IDEA

"Would you use an app that does X?"

THEIR LIFE

"How do you currently handle X? Walk me through the last time."

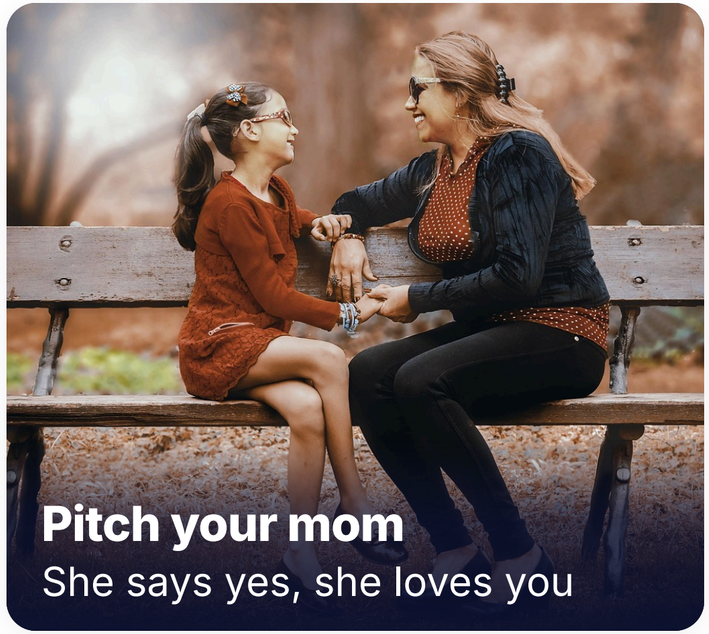

THE FUTURE

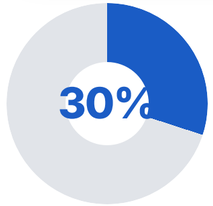

"Would you pay $10/month for this?"

THE PAST

"What did you spend on solving this last month?"

Talk less than 30% of the time

FIVE QUESTIONS

Ask for the story of the last time

1. Tell me about the last time…
2. What was the hardest part?
3. Why was that hard?
4. How do you solve it today?
5. What don't you love about that?

Then: tell me about another time.

1. Are you satisfied with your current team structure?
2. Have you considered pivoting your business model?
3. Would you use an app that does X?

HOMEWORK UNTIL NEXT TIME

Hold 15 problem conversations per student about the problem behind your chosen idea.

15 each

The learning floor is 5 conversations per student.

Log your kill line before your first conversation, and check it first on your midweek day. A kill line is a result you count, a date, and what you do if you cross it, written down before the data comes in.

HOMEWORK · HOW TO DO IT · 1 OF 2

Start close. Never pitch

1. Start close. Your Interview Log, intros, people you see every day. AI deep research and review sites like G2 show where the rest talk.

2. Open on their day, let them raise it, then ask about the last time. Never pitch.

   Watch out. Name the problem first, and it isn't unprompted.

3. Change the idea on what you hear. Rescore every 3 talks, and switch the day your kill line is crossed.

HOMEWORK · HOW TO DO IT · 2 OF 2

End with an ask. Record it

4 End with an ask, a second call or an intro. Each yes is a first prospect.

5 Record with the consent sentence in Legal Basics.

6 Get a blind second opinion. Give an AI your raw notes, minus your idea and personal data. Ask what people raised on their own, and note where it disagrees.

Watch out. AI critics and personas are practice and never count.

MODULE 02 · FINDING IDEAS · WORKSHOP · 90 MINUTES

Workshop: Stress-test your ideas

Ninety minutes from many ideas to one, with a first conversation before you leave.

Where do startup ideas actually come from?

01 Previously on Ambitious Entrepreneurship

02 Your presentations

03 Spot it: ideas are noticed

04 Sort it: think big, test small

05 Pick it: a problem you want to have

06 Test it: the Mom Test quickstart

07 Wrap-up and check-out

08 Workshop: stress-test your ideas

09 Case discussion

WORKSHOP · STEP 1 OF 3

Many ideas, in silence

1 STEP 1 · 25 MIN

MANY IDEAS, IN SILENCE

Every problem on paper before anyone judges one

→ 3 min: sources from your log, itch, work, a shift in five years, a gap
→ 8 min Crazy 8s: alone, silent, "[who] struggles with [what]"
→ 8 min round 2: reachable people, your field, nothing you'd refuse
→ 6 min: read out your three best, merge, tier S to F
→ Mark your top 5

Output 16 ideas each, a top 5

Minutes 25

25:00

WORKSHOP · STEP 2 OF 3

One gate, then the critics

2 STEP 2 · 35 MIN

ONE GATE, THEN THE CRITICS

Cut to one idea on evidence, and know why you are its team

→ 10 min DVF gate: score your top 5 from 1 to 5
→ Every score heard (name the person) or assumed
→ 8 min: make two specific, pitch each in one to three sentences
→ 14 min: another team or an AI attacks as customer, founder, investor
→ 3 min: choose one, rank two backups

Output One idea, its pitch, two ranked backups

Minutes 35

35:00

WORKSHOP · STEP 3 OF 3

Ask about the last time

3 STEP 3 · 30 MIN

ASK ABOUT THE LAST TIME

Learn if people have it, without hearing your idea. Do NOT pitch.

→ 2 min: log your kill line, checked midweek
→ 8 min script: open on their day, let them raise it
→ Last time? Hardest part? Why? Fix today? Dislikes? Then ask
→ 12 min: one live talk per team, or three booked
→ 8 min: commit to the bar, midweek day and pace, send messages

Output Kill line, script, a first talk, targets, sent messages

Minutes 30

30:00

ARRIVED EMPTY-HANDED?

No team? Join one today. No talks? Start from your own sources

Your own itch

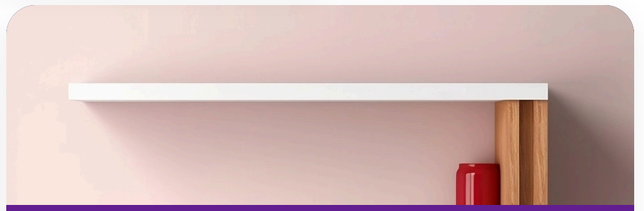

What you know

[who] struggles with [what]

A shift in your field

Something missing

Assumed scores are your Step 3 questions.

Finding ideas (M02) workshop. The four places after Graham (2012) and Friedman (2022). Photos on Pixabay: JESHOOTS-com, This_is_Engineering, paulbr75, InteriorLens.

HOMEWORK UNTIL NEXT TIME

Hold 15 problem conversations per student about the problem behind your chosen idea.

15 each

The learning floor is 5 conversations per student.

Log your kill line before your first conversation, and check it first on your midweek day. A kill line is a result you count, a date, and what you do if you cross it, written down before the data comes in.

Go talk to people. See you next time!

CASE · ENGERT, SCHWÄMMLEIN AND KRAUSS · MUNICH, SUMMER 2011 · INFORMATION HORIZON 30 JUNE 2011

Three Friends and a Promised Market

THE DECISION, AS ENGERT RECALLED IT

Finish the doctorates and go back into consulting, stay with the secure jobs, or make the jump?

No source dates the point at which the three decided.

CASE · TIMELINE

What the three could know by 30 June 2011

1934	Passenger Transport Act. New domestic long-distance bus lines allowed only if existing transport did not suffice
2009	Coalition agreement of CDU, CSU and FDP promises to allow scheduled long-distance buses
August 2009	Deutsche Bahn starts its first international long-distance coach line, Nuremberg to Prague, on a link where it had stopped running trains about five years earlier
24 June 2010	Federal Administrative Court. A permit authority may weigh much lower bus fares decisively
6 July 2010	Government answer. It expects the market to develop. Beyond a sensitivity analysis, no further study of liberalisation scenarios has been carried out
11 March 2011	Consumer federation comments on the draft law that liberalises long-distance buses
April 2011	Deutsche Bahn loses a case against the bus car-pooling service DeinBus
May 2011	Deutsche Bahn says it will not appeal and that the government plans a new law
June 2011	Deutsche Bahn's board calls off a planned bus offensive. It runs more than 50 long-distance bus lines
Summer 2011	Engert and Schwämmlein, consultants who had begun doctorates, and Krauss, who had worked as a software developer at Microsoft, share the wish for a company of their own

Three boards. Problem, criteria, fit

A problem someone has

The one-sentence problems, who has it, and a column per fact, person, document or assumed.

MIDDLE

Criteria and scores

The criteria read off Exhibit 3, then desirability, viability and feasibility with heard or assumed beside each.

RIGHT

Fit and attacks

Three fit sentences, the strongest line of a traveller, a fellow founder and an investor, and the two vote counts at the bottom.

June 2011

Deutsche Bahn's board calls off a planned bus offensive. It runs more than 50 long-distance bus lines

News agency

Press report, date not settled

The two grounds on which permit authorities had to refuse a long-distance bus line, as quoted in 2010, follow.

GROUND	WORDING
1	The route can be served satisfactorily by existing means of transport
2	The line would take over tasks that existing operators or railways already perform, without a significant improvement of service
